MANAGEMENT COMMENTARY

March 2021 was a month of flat performance as the Fund delivered a total return of -0.04%, in contrast to a positive total return for UK equities (FTSE All Share 2.35%) during the month. Since inception, the Fund has now delivered a 28.31% total return, outperforming UK equities (FTSE All Share) by 21.22%.

The outlook for UK infrastructure investment continues to be favourable, with the Government’s ambitions for wide ranging programmes set to provide a long-term pipeline of assets for investors. The income performance of the sector also remains positive, with the Fund continuing to provide a yield in excess of its 5% target.

March 2021 saw the continuation of some weakness across renewable energy in the UK. However, this sentiment provided good buying opportunities for the Fund across several holdings as the investment team took advantage of attractive entry points.

The Fund participated in an equity placing by The Renewables Infrastructure Group, which raised £240m to finance its growing portfolio of renewable energy assets. Meanwhile there was strong performance from the Fund’s international renewables holdings with Northland Power, a Canadian-listed renewables independent power producer, delivering a return of 7.8%.

During the month the Fund increased diversification through participation in the IPO of Digital 9 Infrastructure Trust (“D9”). D9 is a London-listed investment trust focused on the assets that represent the ‘back bone’ of the internet. Its portfolio will consist of sub-sea fibre optic cables, wireless infrastructure and data centre assets. The digital infrastructure market continues to grow around the world, and this new entrant to the public markets provides the Fund with exposure to an experienced management team and an attractive subset of assets.

The Fund ended March 2021 with a NAV of £567.6m.
